Objective : The objective of the survey in Kunkawan region in Maharashtra, was to evaluate the impact of the development initiatives undertaken by Shreedhar (Anna) Tawde Gram Vikas Sanstha.

Content (7 lines paragraph describing the event) : A group of 10 students started the journey to Kunkawan village on March 18th. On March 19th and 20th, the 10 students were organized into five pairs, each accompanied by a volunteer from the NGO to aid in the data collection process of the village, which comprised of 7 wadi's. On Day 1, responses from 122 households were collected. Day 2 began with a visit to the village school, health centre and the panchayat office, followed by the completion of data collection from the remaining households. A total of 143 households were surveyed. The survey focused on education, healthcare, and the implementation of biogas by the NGO in the village. The students concluded their assignment and returned to Mumbai on March 21st.

Number of Participants : 10

Outcome : The survey conducted in Kunkawan village yielded valuable insights into various aspects such as education, healthcare and initiatives undertaken by the NGO in this region. It also provided the students an immersive learning experience in primary data collection and research methodologies.
