

Arthayan's Incubator Innovation Nexus

Objectives:

- Facilitate networking among incubation center leaders to foster meaningful connections and partnerships.
- Provide insights and learning opportunities from industry experts on financial sustainability and innovation.
- Encourage collaboration and resource sharing to enhance the growth and development of incubation ecosystems.

Benefits:

- Enhanced understanding of diverse revenue models and sustainable practices in incubation.
- Access to a broader network of peers and potential partners for future collaboration.
- Opportunities to share and learn from success stories, leading to improved strategies and growth within their own centres.

Description: On August 30, 2024, Mr. Mayur Khanvilkar, the IIC Convenor of PTVAIM, attended Arthayan's Incubator Innovation Nexus. Held from 12:30 PM to 4:00 PM, this event brought together key stakeholders from various incubation centers to foster collaboration, share knowledge, and explore new growth opportunities within the entrepreneurial ecosystem.

Report on Arthayan's Incubator Innovation Nexus

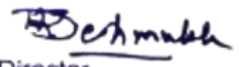

On August 30, 2024, Mr. Mayur Khanvilkar, the IIC Convenor of PTVAIM, attended Arthayan's Incubator Innovation Nexus. Held from 12:30 PM to 4:00 PM, this event brought together key stakeholders from various incubation centers to foster collaboration, share knowledge, and explore new growth opportunities within the entrepreneurial ecosystem.

The primary objectives of attending this event were to connect with peers, learn from industry experts, collaborate on innovative solutions, showcase success stories, and empower growth among incubators. The event began with a networking lunch from 12:30 to 1:30 PM, which provided a relaxed setting for participants to establish new connections and exchange ideas. This was followed by a session of introductions from 1:30 to 2:00 PM, where attendees shared their backgrounds and the unique strengths of their respective incubation centers.

The core of the event took place from 2:00 to 3:30 PM, featuring in-depth discussions on critical topics such as revenue streams, financial sustainability, and innovation strategies tailored for incubators. These discussions were highly insightful, allowing participants to gain a deeper understanding of the operational models of various incubation centers and identify best practices that could be implemented within their own institutions.

The event concluded with a session from 3:30 to 4:00 PM focused on exploring potential areas for collaboration among participants. This segment was particularly valuable, as it opened possibilities

Director
PTVA's Institute of Management
Chitrakar Kerkar Marg,
Behind M. L. Dahanukar College,
Vile Parle (E), Mumbai-400 057.

for future partnerships and resource sharing. A photo opportunity marked the end of the event, capturing the spirit of collaboration and shared commitment to fostering innovation.

Overall, the event was a tremendous success, offering a platform not only for knowledge sharing but also for building a stronger incubation community dedicated to supporting budding entrepreneurs and enhancing community development.

Director
PTVA's Institute of Management
Chitrakar Ketkar Marg,
Behind M. L. Dahanukar College,
Vile Parle (E), Mumbai-400 057.