Smt. Hatkar initiated the session by sharing her personal entrepreneurial journey, providing a glimpse into her achievements, including organizing four successful exhibitions in Vile Parle. These exhibitions predominantly featured women entrepreneurs and startups, aligning with her upcoming exhibition's aim to not only support women entrepreneurs but also showcase the rich history of Maharashtra. She noted that their products now reach over eight countries worldwide, reflecting the success of her endeavours.

Delving into the core topics of the session, Smt. Hatkar elucidated the concepts of Supply Chain, Logistics, and Marketing. She emphasized the interconnectedness of these components and their pivotal roles in business operations. Participants gained valuable insights into resource management by optimizing supply chain and logistics processes, with Smt. Hatkar sharing practical strategies to enhance efficiency. Additionally, she provided guidance on when and how to adopt a market-centric approach within supply chain and logistics strategies.

The session concluded successfully at 3:30 PM, leaving the participants enriched with knowledge and practical wisdom to apply in their entrepreneurial ventures.
