Report on the Visit to Sardar Patel Technology Business Incubator (SP-TBI)

Objectives:

- To provide students and faculty members with insights into the startup ecosystem.
- To learn about the operational dynamics of business incubators and the support they offer to startups.

Benefits

- The visit helped students and faculty members gain a deeper understanding of the role of business incubators in fostering entrepreneurship.
- They learned about the various stages of startup development and the support systems in place to aid these ventures.

Description:

PTVAIM's Centre of Entrepreneurship and Innovation (COEI) organized a visit to Sardar Patel Technology Business Incubator (SP-TBI) on March 29, 2020. 14 students from PTVAIM visited SP-TBI.

The visit began with a warm welcome from Mr. Chandrabhan Singh Nathawat, COO of SP-TBI. He provided an overview of the incubator and highlighted some of their successful incubatees, including SwitchMe, Amorqa, and BitGenie. Ms. Amrita explained the incubation programs offered at SP-TBI, detailing the various resources, mentorship opportunities, and technological support available to startups. This session was particularly beneficial in understanding how SP-TBI supports the growth and development of new ventures.

Mr. Yash, the co-founder of BitGenie, shared his remarkable startup journey. He discussed the challenges and successes he experienced, providing valuable insights and inspiration to the attending students. Hearing directly from successful entrepreneurs like Mr. Yash motivated the students to pursue their own entrepreneurial ideas with greater confidence. The stories of perseverance and innovation were highly encouraging.

The visit to SP-TBI was an enriching experience, showcasing one of Mumbai's premier incubators and its role in fostering innovation and entrepreneurship. The students and faculty members left with a renewed enthusiasm for entrepreneurship and a clearer understanding of the resources available to support their entrepreneurial journeys.
