Mr. Uday Wankawala CEO- AIC- Rambhau Mhalgi Prabodhini (RMP), conducted a webinar on ‘Social Entrepreneurship and its scope and relevance in current times’ for PTVAIM students on 4th September, 2021. Students and teachers got understanding social entrepreneurship; its scope, relevance and importance.

IIC Convenor R. Mahabal introduced Mr. Wankawala and welcomed him. He discussed the basic context of social entrepreneurship and the importance and scope in face of a pandemic like COVID. He also explained at length the core difference between social entrepreneurship and social work. He presented case studies of some of the social entrepreneurs he had mentored and how they have made profits but also made an impact on society. He highlighted various segments of social entrepreneurship. He then gave a basic understanding of gap identification and then explained the basic viability study that one must do for an idea which is in domain of social entrepreneurship. Towards the end, he asked students to share some of their business ideas and discussed their strength weakness and viability with them.

The session was interesting and interactive and the students showed interest in getting more time and contacting sir with their ideas better fleshed out.
